9th INTERNATIONAL SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE

COVID – 19

- CHALLENGES AND CONSEQUENCES -

9. april 2021.

Dear colleague,

The European University of Brčko District and the European University “Kallos” Tuzla are organizing the ninth International Scientific Conference on April 9, 2021 on the topic and hereby invites you to take part in the work of the scientific conference.

COVID - 19

The beginning of 2020 was marked by a pandemic of a new corona virus. Corona viruses are a large family of viruses, which have the shape of a crown under an electron microscope, which is why they are named after the Latin word corona - crown. The new corona virus is a new type of corona virus that has not been detected in humans so far. The World Health Organization called it SARS-CoV-2 (SARS-coronavirus-2), and the disease caused by COVID-19 ("Coronavirus Disease"). It was discovered in China at the end of 2019. The virus has so far affected more than 39 million people worldwide, of whom over 1,100,000 have died.

As a result of the new corona virus pandemic, most countries in the world have subjected their populations to measures aimed at curbing the spread of the virus. As a result of these measures, the world economy is experiencing a rapid decline and health systems have collapsed. Jobs are in jeopardy, factories are shutting down. Even economic giants are on their knees, like powerful airlines or car factories. Tourism practically shut down overnight. Schools are closed until further notice, and classes are switched to online mode. The mental health of people who were in isolation during the lockdown was shaken. As a result, doctors predict the occurrence of PTSD. These, as well as many other consequences, were caused by the spread of the new corona virus. But in some fields not everything is so black. Some businesses and other entities have seen their opportunity and are using it successfully. Thus flourished the sector for the production of disinfectants, as well as protective masks, gloves and suits. Employers used the opportunity for employees to work from home, which led to cost savings. The race has begun on who will be the first to place an effective vaccine on the market.

What are the negative consequences, and what are the occasions, is the topic of the ninth international scientific conference. It is indisputable that this pandemic had an impact on all segments of society and social relations (law, economics, tourism, industry, health and medicine, technology, information technology, as well as many others), so the topic is interesting for all experts and scientists from all fields. With this in mind, we invite you to participate in this international scientific conference with your scientific or professional work.
